Professional Data Systems Becomes a Microsoft Certified Partner

Microsoft certification supports PDS' focus on healthcare software provider partnerships

WHITE PLAINS, NY, July 2, 2010 – Professional Data Systems (PDS), a leading medical IT service provider, was named a Microsoft Certified Partner after achieving the Medium Business Solution Provider Competency. This competency is granted only to select vendors who have demonstrated excellence in deploying and supporting Microsoft technologies.

According to Microsoft (<https://partner.microsoft.com>), when a company such as PDS achieves this competency, “you showcase your expertise in providing solutions to midsize business by offering the most current technology and IT solutions knowledge that helps midsize businesses with their unique challenges.” Furthermore, such companies now have “access to the benefits [they] need to deliver and support creative solutions that add customer value and position [them] as a trusted advisor.”

Only companies that have demonstrated high levels of customer service, proved their experience, and attained advanced certification, receive the designation of Microsoft Certified Partner. Microsoft is recognizing Professional Data Systems for its skills and expertise in providing customer satisfaction with Microsoft products and technology.

“We are extremely proud of our Certified Partnership with Microsoft. It is our technical knowledge and excellent customer support that has earned us this partnership status” said Tom Telesca, owner and president of PDS.

Mr. Telesca went on to say that “we are especially excited about our status with Microsoft since this ‘stamp of approval’ supports our primary focus for the upcoming year - partnering with medical software providers who are in need of our networking expertise. This MS partnership further reinforces our reputation as a leading Healthcare IT company. PDS’s expertise is in building and supporting the core infrastructure on which medical software operates. This leads to an improved overall experience for shared-customers and a seamless, integrated end-to-end solution.”
